2023 | Volume Volume - 5 - Issue Issue - 1

In this issue

Research Article

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:IJSRHC-5-138

Quality of life, sexual satisfaction, anxiety and depression status in lymphoma survivors

Published On: December 27, 2022 | Pages: 061 - 068

Author(s): Serife Solmaz*, Tugba Cetintepe, Dogus Turkyilmaz, Nuri Asik, Fatih Demirkan, Mehmet Ali Ozcan, Hayri Guner Ozsan, Bulent Undar, Oktay Bilgir, Ahmet Alacacioglu and Inci Alacacioglu

Objective: The progressive development of lymphoma therapies has led to an important prolongation of patient survival. We aimed to investigate anxiety, depression, sexual satisfaction and health-related quality of life status in these lymphoma survivors. We examined the effects of depression, anxiety and sexual satisfaction on the quality of life. Materials and metho ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/ijsrhc.000038

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:IJSRHC-5-136

The counterphobic matrix of cuckolding and troilism: The psychopathological origin of sexual sharing paraphilias

Published On: August 06, 2022 | Pages: 040 - 046

Author(s): Giulio Perrotta*

Background and aims: Based on the concept of “cuckolding” and “troilism”, it was hypothesized that underlying this paraphilia is a counterphobic attitude that positively reinforced produces the establishment of behavioural addiction. The purpose of this study is to confirm this hypothesis. Materials and methods: Clinical interview, based on narrative-anamnestic and d ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/ijsrhc.000036

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:IJSRHC-5-135

Dutch Sexologist perceptions on monitoring nocturnal erectile function

Published On: June 22, 2022 | Pages: 030 - 034

Author(s): Evelien J Trip*, Melianthe P Nicolai, Henk W Elzevier, Rob CM Pelger and Jack JH Beck

Background: There has been a long-standing interest in assessing male sexual function over the past number of decades. Erectile Dysfunction (ED) is commonly classified as organic, psychogenic, or mixed. Aim: The principal aim of this questionnaire was to determine the ways in which Dutch healthcare professionals (sexologists) define the type of ED in their daily prac ...

Abstract View | Full Article View | DOI: 10.17352/ijsrhc.000035

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:IJSRHC-5-133

Healthcare providers' attitude towards abortion service provision in Gulu city, Northern Uganda

Published On: June 07, 2022 | Pages: 008 - 015

Author(s): Pebalo Francis Pebolo*, Auma Anna Grace and Obol James Henry

Background: Although induced abortion is legally allowed on various grounds in several sub-Saharan African countries, health care providers in these countries often persist in viewing induced abortion as immoral. Providers' attitudes may conflict with the national abortion law or their personal and or religious values. Abortion services are severely restricted and hig ...

Abstract View | Full Article View | DOI: 10.17352/ijsrhc.000033

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:IJSRHC-5-132

Proportion and associated factors of sexual violence among female night junior school students in Gondar town, Northwest, Ethiopia, 2019

Published On: March 04, 2022 | Pages: 001 - 007

Author(s): Woynhareg Kassa Tiruneh*, Terefe Derso and Moges Muluneh Boke

Introduction: Sexual violence is a series public of health problems and human right issues affecting millions of people each year throughout the world with short and long-term impacts on women and girls' physical, mental, sexual, and reproductive health. Therefore, this study aims to assess the magnitude of sexual violence and associated factors among night school fem ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/ijsrhc.000032

Review Article

Open Access Review Article PTZAID:IJSRHC-5-137

Recommendations for removing access barriers to effective Sexual/Reproductive Health Services (SRHS) for young people in South East Nigeria: A systematic review

Published On: September 30, 2022 | Pages: 047 - 060

Author(s): Benjamin O Ajibade*, Chika Oguguo, Jonathan Ling and Judith Eberhardt

Young people's Sexual and Reproductive Health (SRH) services in Nigeria are limited and there are issues of affordability and accessibility of these health services. Also, there are limited studies in Nigeria on the barriers to accessing and utilizing SRHS in the Nigerian healthcare sector. Furthermore, even when the services are provided they are not sensitive to the ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/ijsrhc.000037

Open Access Review Article PTZAID:IJSRHC-5-134

Strategies to fight COVID-19: Beyond the difference between SARS-CoV-2 and Influenza virus

Published On: June 08, 2022 | Pages: 016 - 029

Author(s): Huihui Lin and Hequan Li*

Background: Since the outbreak of COVID-19 emerged in Wuhan, China, in December 2019, the epidemic has spread worldwide and posed a great threat to society. Despite great achievements in COVID-19 research, few studies have focused on the similarities and differences between SARS-CoV-2 and influenza viruses. Results: Through a review of the literature on SARS-CoV-2 a ...

Abstract View | Full Article View | DOI: 10.17352/ijsrhc.000034